IV. CONSENT AGENDA

A. Approvals
1. Instructor of Agriculture, Registered Veterinary Technology - Agriculture. The salary and benefits for this position is categorically funded through the California Career Pathway Trust Grant, awarded for 2014/2015 to 2018/2019. The position would need to follow the hiring prioritization process in order for it to be institutionalized. Otherwise this temporary position would only last as long as the categorical funds are available. The Academic Senate has consulted with YFA to ensure the hiring language for this position reflects the aforementioned conditions.

2. Instructor of Logistics/Supply Chain – Technical Education. The salary and benefits for this position is categorically funded through the California Career Pathway Trust Grant, awarded for 2014/2015 to 2018/2019. The position would need to follow the hiring process.

J. Todd briefly went over the Instructor of Agriculture and the Instructor of Logistics/Supply Chain which had previously been mentioned. It had been mentioned that a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) was needed on how categorical funds would work for the categorical hires. Debra Bolter worked with Gina Leguria to come up with something that was satisfactory with YFA. The categorical hires would need to be institutionalized through the Hiring Prioritization Process if they were to move into the general fund.

3. Student Success & Support Program Counselor. The position would need to follow the hiring prioritization process in order for it to be institutionalized. Otherwise this temporary position would only last as long as the categorical funds are available. The Academic Senate has consulted with YFA to ensure the hiring language for this position reflects the aforementioned conditions.

Otherwise this temporary position would only last as long as the categorical funds are available. The Academic Senate has consulted with YFA to ensure the hiring language for this position reflects the aforementioned conditions.

Also listed are four counselor positions that would come out of the Student Success & Support Program (SSSP) funding. They would be written for the SSSP, and would be in accordance with the SSSP language and mandate. These would also have to go through the Hiring Prioritization Process to be institutionalized.

Moved up from VI. Action/Discussion Items, New Business #2.

Bachelor’s Degree in Respiratory Therapy (SB 850 – Baccalaureate Degree Pilot Program Certification of interest from MJC)

J. Todd said SB 850 is allowing fifteen colleges to apply and offer Baccalaureate degrees. It will create problems like what are our minimum qualifications, how will we adjust and decide whether we will have to rework contracts, and issues regarding curriculum and program development. If we have Baccalaureate degrees that are not CTE, another issue concerns how would the upper division general education be addressed.

These fifteen programs would get an additional $85.00 per unit which has to cover the administrative cost and the investment needed to offer a Baccalaureate degree. At College Council, discussion was positive and this was an opportunity. An area has to be found that is not offered by a CSU so we are not impinging on their Baccalaureate degrees. It has to be something specific and Respiratory Therapy is already in an AA area and does not have a Baccalaureate degree.

J. Todd said the intent to apply is what is on the table and is due on November 12, 2014. C. Martin mentioned this would not start until 2018 and a final report would be due in the Chancellors office in 2022.

Bonnie Hunt, Program Director for the Respiratory Care Program and John Basile briefly went over some details of the program. They are prepared to offer the Baccalaureate degree because they have an existing associates program in place which is accredited. The respiratory care practitioner works in acute care, sub-acute home care and there are opportunities for those students who graduate and complete the program. The professional organizations are pushing this profession and are trying to grow this profession. Full time faculty is in place, they already have a clinical site, and there is interest from past students who have an AA and are interested in seeking a Bachelor’s degree.

John Basile helped to write the position paper for the California Society for Respiratory Care which was approved last week. He read a short paragraph from the paper. The American Association for Respiratory Care, on a national level, has set the bar for 2020 to have Baccalaureate degrees meet our minimum standards for practice. They want to respond by doing so.

M/S (D. Laffranchini, L. Spain) Motion to move forward with the intent to apply.

Curtis Martin wanted to make an amendment to the motion.

M/S/C (C. Martin, L. Spain) Motion to move forward with the Bachelor’s Degree in Respiratory Therapy letter of intent to apply, to ensure that curricular issues and...

Curriculum Process

B. Adams, Co-chair of Curriculum Committee said there are currently 1,318 courses, and 138 active awards on the Chancellors Office Curriculum Inventory. She mentioned the five-year Curriculum Review Matrix and believes we have done a good job getting the courses in compliance. Over the past few years there have been many challenges from the state. Curriculum needs to be looked at from an institutional perspective. Curriculum Committee has the responsibility to look at courses, programs, and what goes into the catalog to ensure the quality and integrity we need for our curriculum for our students.

B. Adams briefly went over some big challenges MJC has faced in the last few years: Basic Skills Initiative, Repeatability, SB1415, CID Common Course numbering System, SB1440, MJC was required to have two transfer degrees on the books, self-certification, 20 ADTs of 21 approved, with a deadline of that self-certification by December 2014, SB440, and if any ADT that has a CID listed, the college needs to have an approved CID descriptor if that course is to be on that template by June 30, 2015.

B. Adams said a workgroup was formed with predominantly faculty, two administrators and are currently working on a course justification proposal form. This course justification proposal form would cover all the elements that are included on the CurricuNet course proposal checklist.

The form will be a living document. They understand it is not finished; it does not include justification sections for everything, but it does include enough to move forward with some of the courses that have been held up due to high unit values or lecture lab designations. They are asking for different data for each course that needs more information and are insuring that it is a faculty driven process by having this form and the representatives working with the authors. In the July 2014 meeting of the Board of Governors there were listed five goals: student success, equity, student services, efficiency and access. Instruction changes the way Curriculum looks at things.

J. Todd made a comment on the SB 440. Up until now he was not worried about Computer Science. He didn't think the Chancellors Office intent was to penalize every school that was not able to make the ADTs on SB 440 by June 2015. If the ADTs are not done by the deadline, the local degrees in that area will be inactivated. There is an issue with the Computer Science ADT, as the units for that degree are currently higher than the 60 unit maximum, and the solution is either an 8-unit Calculus or Physics sequence.

The idea is to have something in the queue that has been submitted for CID approval and meets the template by that date and hopefully those areas will not be penalized.

Allan McKissick spoke to the intent of his request for a report on:

- Explanation of regulations/requirements concerning the relationship of course hours to units
- Any relevant legal requirements concerning unit limitations on financial aid
- Relevant legal requirements concerning majors and degrees, specifics like numbers

He believes these are the three issues that need to be addressed, but a summary of specific requirements is in order.

A. McKissick thanked the Executive Committee for a helpful report on Thursday, Oct. 30, 2014.
M. Adams made a comment regarding the Curriculum Committee document with the memo at the bottom of the first page to the Chief Instructional Officer; he wanted to make sure it was contextualized. It is one of the many different strategies that are mentioned and it should not be construed as a mandate to do so. Also there was mentioned in a couple of paragraphs the issue of subject matter expertise and if there is any law that supports that idea. He feels it is a matter of common sense, and doesn’t believe it’s a matter of law.

J. Todd mentioned he had copies of the entire memo to all CIOs from the Chancellor’s Office, and the document was handed out.

L. Hatch responded to M. Adams comment. The decisions about Curriculum fall to the Curriculum Committee and not to individual faculty, otherwise there would be no reason to have a Curriculum Committee. There has to be a way to look at reasons, criteria, narratives and history of success in courses and programs so a decision can be made to move forward. In the absence of that process, the curricula has been at a stalemate for two years. That’s why a process is being created.

Eva Mo believes we must work with one another as efficiently as possible. More time is spent on work for the institution than teaching. We need to know why the Computer Science degree might be denied because of this. E. Mo is what we have to do for computer science and address the specific issues. We need to hear what is happening with Computer Science and not just in our own disciplines.

J. Todd mentioned there are three options with Computer Science. There is no Computer Science degree which an ADT was sent forward and if able to get that approved a local degree can be offered and if the ADT is not approved a local degree will not be offered. The choices for fulfilling that is either having a Calculus sequence at eight units, Calculus 1 & 2 or Physics at eight units or not having a Computer Science Degree.

J. Dorn said there was a proposal done for over a year to make that happen. He went through every TMC in Computer Science and every school that has one and listed all the courses offered and looked at exactly what courses were being offered and what units were being offered. He thinks Computer Science should do that and maybe that process would show them where to look to see why their degree is not going through. Every TMC in Computer Science has either a 4 unit Calculus, a 5 unit Calculus, or a 4 unit Calculus with more contact hours than four hours. About two thirds of the schools have a 5 unit Calculus or 4 unit Calculus with 5 or more contact hours. One third of the schools have a 4 unit Calculus and 4 contact hours. He believes every school has a 4 unit Physics. The exception is a quarter school. If you are going to look at those that have that degree it is buried in Calculus across the board.

Jim Howen praised the sub-group from Curriculum Committee. He was able to sit through two of their meetings. They know the laws and history of different courses, were throwing out information and he was very impressed. He wasn’t expecting that and said they deserved congratulations. They are the subject matter experts when it comes to units and hours. They compared other schools and did their best to be as inoffensive as possible. They didn’t want to hurt anyone’s feelings or any programs. As far as subject matter experts are concerned, he has a concern who that might be. For example, his department has a 3 ½ unit commercial industrial wiring class; Delta College and their subject matter expert thinks they need a 7 unit class, and ours is comparable as far as coverage. So who is the expert here? He doesn’t think faculty necessarily have all the answers and are as impartial as we might want them to be, where a third party like the Curriculum Committee would be more neutral and impartial in making those evaluations. If there are proponents pushing for 5, 4 or 3 units then someone has to be the referee, and he feels that it should be the Curriculum Committee. He suggests going with what the Curriculum Committee says.
A. McKissick said if the form to define the process better for Curriculum and the sub-group that can be further discussed next time. However, in terms of the report that he asked for until we are through with this we keep working on this. His request is that we agendize further issues.

L. Spain requested the report from Curriculum Committee.

J. Todd requested that L. Miller email him if changes are made and J. Todd will send it out to everyone.

VI. ACTION/DISCUSSION ITEMS

B. New Business

1. Elections and Electronic Ballots

J. Todd would like us to consider an Electronic Ballot for the next election to save paper and time.

M/S/ (E. Mo, K. Alavezos) Move that Academic Senate move toward an electronic ballot process.

E. Mo said this process would be in the name of efficiency, greater accuracy and access.

It was mentioned that a rules change needed to be made. J. Todd spoke with R. Stevenson and a rules change can be done in one meeting and just wanted to announce it today. He will have something to be considered at the next meeting on November 6, 2014. It would be in conjunction with R. McKenzie or someone in the Math Department that has done this before.

• Reviewed the process for Faculty Hiring Prioritization
  o Categorical hires will go through the hiring prioritization process either during the period of time of their funding or at the end and those positions will be considered for growth unless they are a mandated position

• We had a lengthy discussion of the Program Review Process and the Evaluation of Program Reviews
  o This year we will hear presentations for F 2013, Sp 2014 and F 2014
  o Approximately 20 programs will be presented o The timeline will be to have the reviews completed at the end of the semester so that requests can go forward to RAC
  o The council continued a discussion of the goal of the Program Review process and its relationship to RAC and the accountability of RAC to the Program Review process
  o The Council recognizes the challenges of having Program Review in a five-year-cycle but supports the five-year-cycle
  o It is expected that programs will update their document as needed to support their program needs Jennifer Hamilton will represent the RAC on the College Council.

YCCD has received approximately $2.1 million from the state in deferred maintenance and Instructional Equipment and Library Materials (IELM) funds—ONE TIME MONEY that can only be used for specific items

- The District distributed $425,000 to MJC
- The members of RAC decided to follow the same process used last year as a means of distributing the funds (see the e-mail below):
  - Half will be spent this year and half next year
  - Those in the Program Review cycle can request funds through Program Review
  - Those outside of Program Review can submit a Resource Allocation Request Form (see e-mail below)—the timeline for the request process has not been finalized, but will be discussed at the next scheduled RAC meeting. Additionally, the attached request form was used last year—not sure if the same form will be used this year.

Discussions:
1. Student Success and Support Program (SSSP) Update – James Todd
   Background: “Student Success & Support Program (SSSP) (formerly Matriculation) is a process that enhances student access to the California Community Colleges and promotes and sustains the efforts of credit students to be successful in their educational endeavors. The goals of Student Success & Support Program (formerly matriculation) are to ensure that all students complete their college courses, persist to the next academic term, and achieve their educational objectives through the assistance of the student-direct components of the student success & support program (formerly matriculation) process: Admissions, orientation, assessment and testing, counseling, and student follow-up.”
   (http://extranet.cccco.edu/Divisions/StudentServices/Matriculation.aspx)

   Academic Senate (AS) President Todd updated College Council on the progress of the SSSP Initiative, and the College Council’s SSSP Taskforce. AS President Todd stated that the taskforce was close to completion on the charge, and membership of a SSSP Committee, as well as the SSSP Plan that will guide MJC’s. AS President Todd described concerns posed by the counseling faculty with regard to the use of para-professional to fill roles traditionally within the counseling discipline, or new roles that could potentially threatened the integrity of counseling. The new initiative demands new ways of engaging students through, for example, the development of a comprehensive educational plan for each student by the time they have 15 units. The legislature has granted categorical funding to help implement this mandate. Modesto Junior College has chosen to use part of this funding to hire four full-time non-tenure track counseling faculty, and an administrative coordinator (Dean? Director?). Despite guaranteed funding for these positions, they will be ranked through the hiring prioritization process in case MJC wants to institutionalize those positions when the categorical funding expires.

   Definitions: Categorical funding (from http://socccdfa.net/documents/didYouKnow/categorical.pdf): “Categorically funded programs are established by the California legislature to provide state mandated minimum standards to a targeted group of students who are either disabled, disadvantaged, or have financial need. Thus, it provides funding to serve students without any cost to the District’s general fund. The goal of categorical funding is to insure access and maximize the potential for success of otherwise at risk students.” Examples of categorically funded programs are EOPS, DSPS, Matriculation, CalWorks, and Basic Skills.
AS Watch: The Academic Senate, and the Yosemite Faculty Association are aware of problems posed by categorical funding hires, such as making sure that categorical funded positions aren’t rolled into Fund 11 (the General Fund) without first being ranked through the hiring prioritization process. The YFA is developing language to address some of these issues and concerns before the Academic Senate Signs off on these hires.

Given the community’s interest, MJC President Jill Stearns stated her decision to pursue the baccalaureate degree pilot program in Respiratory Therapy at Modesto Junior College. Currently, only Loma Linda University in San Bernardino County offers this program. Fifteen community colleges will be chosen to pilot one program each. Pilot programs cannot duplicate any baccalaureate degree offered by the CSU or UC system. There is a very tight timeline, and many questions remain unanswered. However, if MJC is chosen to pilot Respiratory Therapy, this could prove to be a great opportunity for our institution and the community.

AS Watch: The Academic Senate of the California Community Colleges has in years previous opposed the baccalaureate degree in community colleges. However, now that it is law, it urges faculty to be involved in the development of these pilot programs since S.B. 850 does not make any specific provisions for the way in which faculty should be involved. Questions not addressed by the legislation are opportunity costs, minimum qualifications, general education requirements, costs to the students, etc.
