Margie Butler

Margie learned the love of music at her father's knee. Her father, a renowned Irish tenor, instilled in her a passion for Irish music and for the harp. Besides performing with the Celtic music group Golden Bough for the past 35 years, Margie has also recorded a CD of Celtic lullabies and three collections of harp music. Margie received a degree in performing arts from The United States International University. She has been teaching harp and penny-whistle for over 35 years and now also teaches in her studio in Modesto.